

PURELY PERSONAL

The Movements of many People, Newberrians, and Those Who Visit Newberry.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Aull motored to Newberry on Sunday from Dyson.

Prof. N. E. Aull of Estill, spent Friday in the city with his brother, Col. E. H. Aull.

Mr. A. C. Sligh motored from Dyson to Newberry on Saturday and spent Sunday with his brother, Mr. Sligh.

Thos. F. Suber, who is teaching at Walterboro high school, spent the week end with his father Mr. W. F. Suber.

Prof. W. C. Bynum, a Newberry boy, who has been principal of the Georgetown graded schools for the past nine years, was elected president of the State Teachers' association in Columbia last week.

VARIOUS AND ALL ABOUT.

Sunday was an ideal day.

Spring begins today.

This is court week.

A keg full of kittens at Baxter's undertaking parlors.

Now for spring gardening and good things to eat as the season advances.

While it was at it why didn't the legislature drive out the mosquito pest also?

We have grown somewhat tired of lemonade, so pass the cannonade please.

We have always been a little skittish about borders anyway, especially anything that borders on trouble.

Mr. M. M. Buford is announced as a candidate for the office of sheriff of Newberry county.

Mr. C. W. Douglas is announced as a candidate for magistrate for townships Nos. 1 and 8.

Mr. J. B. Halfacre is announced as a candidate for reappointment to the office of county auditor.

Mr. Clemson L. Wilson is announced as a candidate for the office of county superintendent of education.

Mr. J. Moody Bedenbaugh is announced as a candidate for the office of county auditor.

Mr. J. William Smith of Kinards sold

100 bales of cotton on Thursday at Clinton for 12 cents the pound around.

Mr. C. C. Schumpert is announced as a candidate for the office of county treasurer.

In the recorder's court Monday morning Sim Maddox was wiven $10 or 30 days for assault and battery. He paid.

On the bulletin board at police headquarters Chief Rodelsperger has posted these words: "Look out for cars. See that they are numbered."

Mr. James P. Kinard has resigned as president of Anderson college and Rev. John E. White has been elected to succeed him.

A wealthy cuss
Is Henry Bean,
He runs his bus
With gasoline.

The Methodists have torn down the old stables that stood on their lot at the corner of College and Friend streets. Thanks.

Politics is picking up pretty well in this county though the candidates for the senate and the legislature seem just a little timid about letting their wishes be known.

On Thursday afternoon, March 23, at 5:30 the Woman's Missionary society of First Baptist church will hold a half-hour prayer service at the church.

All the ladies and the men, too, should join the civic association and help in the good work of making this an ideal town in all that goes to make a fine community.

The new Ford agency to be known as the Fridy Motor company, is located in the McCaughrin block next to the Observer printing office.

Lieutenant Governor A. J. Betha will address the students of Newberry college this morning in the chapel at 8:45 o'clock. The public will be welcome to hear him.

The Calendar society of the Methodist church, will share the receipts at Mr. Wells' picture show on Monday, March 28. A special film will be sent from New York. See notice in Friday's issue for particulars.

The alarm of fire was sent in about two-thirty on Monday. A crib belonging to Mrs. Workman in Cannontown was burned, consuming some 15 or 20 bushels of corn and some forage. The fire originated from a hedge which was on fire.

Mr. Homer Schumpert says the new fire alarm that is being installed will surely wake up the town if it comes up to its recommendation and if it fails to give satisfaction it will be taken out without expense to the town.

A tenant house on the place of Mr. C. A. Matthews had a narrow escape from burning one day last week. The house is occupied by a colored family and was discovered on fire in the roof about noon. The alarm was given and by hard work of Mr. Matthews and neighbors the fire was extinguished before much damage was done.

The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. will meet at the residence of Mrs. Mary Wright tomorrow (Tuesday) afternoon at 4 o'clock. Subject: Medoal Temperance. Mrs. W. G. Houscal, leader.

Mrs. Maggie Fellers, who was formerly with the Mower company, is now with Miss Annie L. Smith and company.

On last Friday Magistrate Player and his deputy, Mr. Pope Buford, went to the home of Bill Mendenhall, colored, in No. 8 township and arrested John Henry Coleman an escaped convict from the Spartanburg chain gang. Coleman escaped last August. He was serving an 18 months sentence for cutting up his wife and had already served six months. He was taken back to Spartanburg by the authorities of that county who arrived Monday morning.

Dr. Thornton Whaling, president of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary, at Columbia, who preached at the Aveleigh Presbyterian church last Sunday morning and at the First Baptist church Sunday night, delivered a very timely and masterful address to the Newberry High school Monday morning on the choice of a vocation. Dr. Whaling visited the Boundary Street school also, where he delighted the entire school with one of the best stories of Uncle Remus.

We had the pleasure of enjoying the annual birthday dinner of Maj. J. Bachman Bedenbaugh at his home in Pomaria on Sunday. Just how old he is was told by a number of candies which were lighted on the top of a cake just before the guests entered the dining room and they burned so fast they were like the Irishman pigs, they moved about so fast you couldn't count them. But Bach is still a young man and enjoys having his friends with him and knows how to treat them when they come and that good wife of his also knows how to prepare and to serve a dinner. The only trouble we had was a sore tooth but we managed to do full justice to the elegant spread and all the guests enjoyed the dinner.

I PAY CASH.

MAXWELL

Intensive Manufacturing

Intensive manufacturing, like intensive farming, is simply efficient specialization. The only object of intensive methods is to secure specialized knowledge, a larger, better and less expensive product.

Maxwell Motor cars are profits of intensive manufacturing. In the first place we make only one chassis. We do not build cars of different wheelbases, having long since passed the experimental stage of our development. We know that for our purpose a wheelbase of 103 inches meets all conditions and therefore we have standardized that length.

In the second place, we build only one motor—a powerful, four cylinder, high speed, smooth running motor that has created such favorable comment among Maxwell owners. We do not dabble with this, that and some other type of engine—nor do we ask customers to risk the satisfactory operation of any new and untried fads or innovation.

Maxwell cars are as nearly standardized as it is possible to make them. In all essentials they are correct because they have been put to the test, not only by us but by thousands of owners in all parts of the country. And they have acquitted themselves creditably.

Of course, we are always going forward and striving to produce a motor car that will approach mechanical and engineering perfection. We make minor changes and refinements from time to time, knowing that the march of progress demands it. This "ultimate" car is not here and, like tomorrow, never will be. So the next best thing is to build a car that will approach this condition of absolute excellence.

With a demand exceeding five thousand cars per month, we can and do effect great economies in all manufacturing departments. These economies, as you know, would be impossible with a smaller production or a wide range of types and sizes.

Beauty of lines and finish; sturdiness combined with light weight; economy in first cost and upkeep—these are the qualities contributed by Maxwell intensive manufacturing methods.

Brief Specifications—Four cylinder motor; cone clutch; unit transmission 3 (speeds) bolted to engine, 3-4 floating rear axle; left-side steering, center control; 56 inch tread, 103 inch wheelbase; 30x3 1-2 inch tires; weight 1,960 pounds. Equipment—Electric starter; Electric headlights; (with dimmer) and tail-light; storage battery; electric horn; one man mohair top with envelope and quick adjustable storm curtains; clear vision, double-ventilating windshield; speedometer; spare tire carrier; demountable rims; pump, jack, wrenches and tools. Service—16 complete service stations, 54 district branches, over 2,500 dealers and agents—so arranged and organized that service can be secured anywhere within 12 hours. Prices—2-passenger Roadster, $635, 5-passenger Touring Car, $655, F. O. B. Detroit. Three other body styles.
